Definition: Patchwork (pächwŭrk) n.1. Something composed of miscellaneous parts. Individual pieces that make up a whole joined by a common thread.

Time is a patchwork made up of many different pieces joined together to form a whole. Berkeley High is made up of a patchwork of people whose individuality enhances the whole. The common thread which brings these patchwork pieces together is TIME.

A special feeling of unity was created this year among the members of the ASU because of the willingness of sophomores, juniors, and seniors to work together. The ASU, which includes non-Asians, participated in car washes, dances, luncheons, community projects, and worked on the SOJOURNER, an Asian students' literary magazine.

Members worked to help keep the International Hotel in Chinatown from being torn down. Students continued to raise funds for the Arlene Sano Memorial Scholarship.

The highlight of the year was the annual retreat held in Placer County. 72 students attended and joined in roasting a pig, demonstrating the martial arts, and performing skits.

United we stand.....

We will never be defeated!

Another year has come to learn, to struggle, to understand and unite ourselves in this mist of time.
 People of all races, people of all kinds have come to strive as one in harmony with one another.
 I have had my problems and my people have had theirs, but the biggest of them all is for everyone to realize our unity to become Asians
 One in a land of many confuses the mind, deteriorates the identity and gives false security, but as long as one Asian still lives in this land of opportunity he will continue REACHING OUT and striving to help others understand themselves better,
 In hopes of uniting us and uniting us
 so we may be many in this land.

While not as active as usual, the Key Club, which works on community projects, painted a rainbow for a blind girl who wanted one in her bedroom. They also painted the outside of the Career Center. They worked with their sister club, the Kiwanettes, to take blind children trick-or-treating as well as having a party for them.

This year the Kiwanettes became an independent service club also sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Berkeley. Their community services ranged from working with the Red Cross to painting murals at the TMR school. The Kiwanettes sponsored a foster child whom they plan to continue to support through the summer and the next few years.

The AFS, American Field Service, hosted Wolfgang Heim sent from Germany

-- this year's foreign exchange student. Students met frequently to plan ways to make money and to socialize. Unfortunately, the local chapter of AFS was unable to raise $1400 necessary to send a student from Berkeley abroad.

Wolfgang felt that this was unfortunate because the program enriches everyone's experiences and breaks down stereotypes of each other.

*Touched by the fire of music's life am I
 For now I am within a ball of song.
 Needs be this church doth not rich forms deny--
 A place less great would do such greatness wrong.*

*So grand and full these chords of voices brave
 How would they sound embraced with ugly sight?
 Would not they blur and wear away the phrase?
 Diminishing the music from its right?*

*Then wrong not splendor with dischordant view;
 Bear graceful show, allow the music rise;
 For one's fair looks, make fair the other too;
 Let sight and sound together harmonize.*

*So beauty must with equal beauty lie,
 For lack of one would make the other die.*

Over the past months a group of MSA students struggled to compile the Literary Journal. The process began with those courageous students who submitted writings for publication in the journal.

Editors and publishers waded through the pieces, selecting and editing the ones to be used. The final steps - the copying, lay-out design, and printing, moved the journal beyond the literature contained in it, making it additionally, a work of visual art.

The journal's staff felt that students in MSA needed an outlet for their creative work which they hoped to provide in the journal. They hoped it would be a tool to promote further unification of MSA by helping students become better acquainted with each other and themselves.

This fall's Student Senate found a way to spend the $1400 given to them by the School Board last spring. They had clubs submit requests showing they had potential for raising half the amount they needed.

The spring Student Senate attended School Board meetings to voice their opinions on student problems and needs. They also appointed members to the Principal's Advisory Committee which had to make decisions on how money, allocated to the school was to be spent.

To help raise money for the Senate and for clubs, the members sponsored a raffle with a first prize of $200. Other prizes were donated by Berkeley merchants.

2. Carl Waldman, Kim Burgess, Mike Grossman and Karen Beachman ask questions of another Senate member.

Every Tuesday after school the Science Botany club met to construct Bon-Sai trees, to learn about plant hormones and their growth, to study natural pesticide control and organic gardening.

Lucena Simpao, adviser, wanted to foster an interest in research by providing a place, facilities, and staff supervision to students who would like to do simple experiments outside their regular classes.

To make money for the club, the members had a terrarium sale and managed to get funding from the Student Senate and from Laval Wilson, superintendent. With the funds, the club purchased cyclone fencing material and a Geodesic Dome greenhouse.

The Science Math club spent a busy year attempting to successfully launch rocket they called "Cinarock."

They were undaunted by any failures under the encouragement of Don Sanchez, adviser. After high winds and water made their first launching at the Marina a flop, they returned to launch a rocket with a mouse and a movie camera on it.

Besides launching rockets, the club studied "black holes" on the surface of the moon and made a tape to be broadcasted on KPFA.

1. Members return raffle ticket stubs for the club - Steve Rasmussen, Lucena Simpao, adviser, Beth Tickner, Arthur Bolton, Jennifer Keller, and Chris Wuellner.

The Science-Fiction Ecology Club

was active in the environmental conservation movement. Members spent their time encouraging an interest in environmental issues and at the same time providing entertaining experiences.

They spent a weekend at Blodgett University where a professor of forest-entomology gave them a walking lecture about conservation, logging procedures and forest maintenance. They observed ecosystems at different sites and learned about the world-wide ecological crises as well as the problems in California.

The Math, Engineering and Science Achievement program known as MESA began this year. The program focused on Blacks, Chicanos and American Indians to attempt to find potential engineers. MESA, financed by UC Berkeley and sponsored by its Engineering department, provided tutorial help for members in math, physics, and chemistry and English, paying students to maintain a B average as an incentive.

To encourage students to explore engineering careers, the group went on field trips where they met engineers and student engineers.

1. Gerald Garcia takes snooze during a briefing lecture at UC's engineering school.
2. Ira James doesn't find engineering student's joke as funny as Lynda Fenton did.

Headed by Black Belt Anthony Ricketts, the Tae Kwon Do Brothers (and Sisters) got off to an enthusiastic and active start during their first year. The team, made up of three females and nine males practiced every Tuesday and Thursday after school. Members felt it was important for everyone to know how to defend themselves. The next time a door bursts open, it just might be a member of the Tae Kwon Do!

The Ski Club, had a record breaking season - the most trips, coolest chaperones (Vera Labat and Doug Powers were just two), less injuries, six days on the slopes, two over-night trips to Heavenly valley, two one day trips to Alpine Meadows and Sugar Bowl and the most potty stops.

The Rally Committee, once known as the Rally Boys, became integrated. Twenty-five members sold refreshments at home games, pom-poms, buttons, penants and held a car wash, counted ballots, auctioned off football players, and hosted a teacher's banquet. They also planned the rooting section at the TOC.

Velda Akins, Debra Armstrong, Charles Dixon, Tangie Parker, Michael Green, Theresa Huey, Rhonda Knox, Phyllis Tate and Susan Wright served on a special subcommittee set up to organize activities. After the plans were made and dates were set, the whole committee was called together.

Tom McElheney completed his second year as the official basketball and football announcer for Berkeley High. As the announcer he was called upon to help with the senior class basketball game with the varsity basketball and football players.

The close of this school year marked the first year of the Street Hockey team. Fifteen members worked hard to make this a good season playing teams in the Social Hall either from this school or from other clubs.

Tom Aller, team captain, devoted his spare time to team practices and in organizing for games against other local teams. Tom hoped that street hockey would grow in the future and become more of a spectator sport. However, since there is no room to sit without being hit in the Social hall, spectators were at a minimum.

Undaunted, the team members hoped that the excitement involved in playing street hockey would attract more members and spectators.

The Senior Class Basketball game between the football and basketball teams was humorous as the cagers scored almost at will enroute to a 134-62 romp.

Larry McGrew was the standout for the footballers, scoring 13 points and blocking numerous shots, while Kerry Woolridge led the basketball team with 20 points.

This year's Chess team upheld Berkeley's long record of upstanding talent including a national high school chess champion in 1972. Having never shown a dishonorable appearance in intermural chess, the team this year squashed their opponents in the Eastbay with 42 out of 50 wins. Five of the eight losses were due to forfeiture during finals and one of the remaining three was a result of false adjudication. The board ranks were: Board 1, John Pope; Board 2, Sheldon White; Board 3, Chris Brentlinger; Board 4, Bruce Kessinger; Board 5, Alex Tempko.

Although plagued by injuries and not supported by the school, the Cycling team rode away with the East Bay team championship for the second year in a row and the third year in the four years of the league's existence.

Calvin Trampleasure's consistent placings won him first place in the "A" division in a close battle against Del Valle High School's top rider, Eric Parker, while John Miller of West Campus clinched the "C" division (9th and 10th grade) title.

Third year "A" division senior Eric Jansen was out with a knee injury until the last few races and returning junior Reid Bennett lost his excellent chance of capturing the "B" title when he sprained his ankle near the end of the series, but the team championship was secured by the placings of the other members.

The noon Movie Club got off to an ambitious start this year by sponsoring movies either free or for a minimal charge during the lunch hour.

Members, along with adviser Tom Johnson, spent time selecting movies and trying to obtain them. They held a film festival in the fall for MSA.

During the spring, they showed "Of Mice and Men" and hoped to include Charlie Chaplin, Jacque Cousteau and other documentary or entertaining films.

The BHS Chapter of California Jr. State founded this year by John Hartenstein, has lobbied for student issues locally and in Sacramento. Members conducted an opinion poll throughout the school and attended the state and regional conferences sponsored by the organization which is maintained by and for California high school students with an active interest in government.

The Student-Staff Court began its second year, hearing cases from students who felt they were unfairly suspended or disciplined.

When a student decided to arrange for a hearing, the Court would decide on the evidence available whether to hear the case or not. The administration had the right to appeal any case from the Court to the Superintendent or Board of Education which almost happened with the "Willie White" caper.

Aaron Ward, math teacher, chaired the Court for two semesters, while Michael Pon was the secretary. Other members on the student-staff court were: Terry Doran, Patricia George, Kenny Safford, Patsy Madero, Murphy Taylor, Maria Vargas, John Ballantine, Maggie Alcala, and Fred Wehking.

Since November, the Berkeley Delegation of Model UN was preparing for their appearance at the 23rd annual Berkeley Model United Nations Conference. With only seven returning members, the 22 member delegation represented the Congo and Norway. After spending many hours in meetings, the Conference held on February 27-28 had mixed results for the Berkeley delegation.

The Conference began with a traditional dinner at a local Chinese restaurant. During the Conference, the Berkeley delegation got off to a powerful start when a resolution written by Debby Kranzler was accepted and eight out of ten block committee meetings were chaired by Berkeley. However, during the meetings, the Congo and Norway got short-changed for time leaving the resolution and many amendments in the air or not presented.

Depressed by the lack of time for the resolution the delegation had carefully prepared, their spirits were revived by the dance that night featuring "Earthquake." Everyone was tired and punchy for the General Assembly the next day.

During the Assembly, members continued traditions of writing notes, sending newspaper clippings on disasters in other countries, and declaring war on spiteful countries like Honduras, Zaire, and France.

1. STUDENT-STAFF COURT met during noon periods to discuss latest case. Fred Dunn-Ruiz, John Ballantine, Aaron Ward, chairman, and Maria Vargas.

2. Hannah Myers, Model UN adviser, discusses resolution with Mike Sopher.

LET ME BE ME

Let me be me is all I ask
Black and proud whatever the task
A heart full of joy and many desires
And lots more goals in life to acquire
Nice, Gentle, warm and sweet
A pride that is strong and never weak
My sigh is not Cancer of Capricorn
It's been Black ever since I was born
So let me be me.....

My eyes will always shine with pride and my mind will be my only guide
However society challenges me
I will deal with it effectively
Black and proud, I will always be
And this I stress with dignity
So let me be me.....

- Gwen Grant

SPIRIT OF BLACK PEOPLE

*Lynch me baby
Burn out my life
I don't care
I never die
I'm the spirit
In every Black soul
And I scare you bad
'Cause I'm so bold
Yeah, like soul and Blackness
I'm still around
Was in all the bad niggas
You never put down
Like you killed Bobby Hutttton
But he never died...he just lives on
In other Black minds...so lynch me. Burn me
You can't make me cry...nuthin but freedom
And I won't die!*

During the summer, a Black Poetry Workshop was sponsored by the Black Studies Department and taught by Robert Woods.

Students spent a relaxing and enjoyable time learning to write by expressing their thoughts and their feelings focusing on their experiences as Afro-Americans.

To celebrate the workshop, the students published a book of poetry titled, "Wapingo Walanasa" (Ebony Poet).

WHAT IS OPPRESSION

*Oppression is ten unnecessary bullets
In my brothers back
Oppression is a jive-turkey judge with
No slack
Oppression is Black people so brainwashed
That they don't care
Oppression is drugs in the ghettos that were put there
Oppression is a large unexpected deduction
In your paycheck
Oppression is being beaten at a rally
Cause you didn't move back
I don't hate the white man just the white man's way
And as long as he's around
Oppression is here to stay.*

- Dorese Brown

BLACK BEAUTY - ME!

*I can't help being conceited
You know a brother I've never seen Before walks up to me and says, "What's Happening sister"
I know I've got to be something special.
Somebody wants to know what's happening with Me
My beauty reaffirmed, I say sweetly
"Nuthin"
and feel GOOOOOOOD!*

BLACK WOMAN

*Beautiful, intelligent and lovable
For as long as you are Black
And there are stars at night
You will always be admired...*

*With skin so delicate
And smile so beautiful
Stand proud
Feel tall
For you will always be a part of my heart....*

-Glenn Miller

NATURE TREES

*A tree trunk can't be moved
They stand tall, still, and proud
Only their leaves are swayed sometimes...
Trees are beautiful..
Black peoples' convictions (freedom)
Cannot be moved
Black people stand tall, still and Proud
Only a few are swayed sometimes....
Black people are beautiful*

More students than ever participated in the Speech and Debate team this year.

Early in the year, the team invited Dr. Nelson Polsby, a political science professor at UC to speak on this year's national debate topic, Resolved: that the U.S. should significantly change their method of selecting presidential and vice-presidential candidates.

Throughout the year, many members traveled to San Francisco and other Bay Area schools, to Petaluma and even Reno to participate in tournaments. Many novices worked their way up from the C division in Debate to the A and B divisions.

The BHS debaters, under adviser Caroline Smid, hosted a Speech and Debate Tournament on March 8, where Tom Levenson, and Adwoa Mante won trophies.

To prepare for this year's debates and speeches, DeMel Tucker spent five weeks at the High School Forensics Institute held at Northwestern and competed in the National Speech Tournament in Houston, Texas.

Organization and chaos, frivolity and seriousness - all contributed in the making of this year's award winning Jacket.

Under the fall leadership of spirited Sam Singer and the easy-going manner of spring editor, LaTonia Robinson, the staff produced a highly graphically designed paper which took a first place award at the East Bay Journalism Conference held at Cal State Hayward.

The Jacket also excelled in sports writing under the direction of Wesley Uno, who won the first place sports writing trophy at the Conference, and for its editorial page - still another first place award - livened by the writing of Sam Singer's hard-hitting, not-so-subtle editorials. LaTonia held her own as she took a second place trophy for newswriting.

Success did not come easy. All year long the staff sweated on empty stomachs until 9 or 10 p.m. on deadline nights, putting together a paper to make their fellow students happy - or at least informed.

In spite of not getting an overwhelming response - the biggest complaint was that the Jacket didn't come out often enough - the staff always returned to churn out another exciting chapter in the life of the world that surrounds us.

Everyone on this year's staff had one common goal - to make this year's book the most unique and exciting possible.

Last fall the 28-member staff unanimously voted - between Nacho Chips supplied daily by Gabe Jones - that the yearbook take on John Berry's proposed title, "Patchwork" to reflect the idea that BHS is a patchwork of people.

To make the cover represent the title, Gail Grady and Amy Cruger embroidered "Patchwork 75" on jeans while Valda Earl supervised the divider pages.

Presales totaled 1000 during the fall, the most yearbooks sold in the last ten years during fall sales. Kathy Gallagher, Rosalind Williams, Sonia King, Dorise Yee, sales manager, and Vicki Suda all earned their yearbook by selling 75 or more. Advertising sales also improved as Amanda Fahle and Vicki Suda brought in the most ads.

The more dedicated staff members stayed at school as late as 11:00 p.m. listening to the BOC radio while attempting to meet deadlines. Gabe manned the Jacket Office often for four periods straight, while Karen Beachman, Underclass Editor, sweated over alphabetizing and laying out the sophomores and juniors.

Other staff members ran the slope trying to find names to match pictures. Nate Jessup, refusing to be just Sports Editor, accepted an offer to pose in a simulated nude scene for the Senior divider page. However, he was absent the day it was taken and had to settle for being an advertisement for spring sales.

In order to make the book the best possible, Kim Adams, Editor, and Wanda Walker attended a two week summer workshop at USC. Valda, Kim and Tanya Gonder attended the East Bay Journalism Conference at Cal State Hayward to learn more about yearbook design. At the conference Kim accepted the first place photography award for the '74 book.

After "Patchwork" was completed, Kim, Gabe and photographer Tom McElheney attended the Western Regional Journalism Conference held at the Marriott Inn in Los Angeles where they entered the yearbook competition.

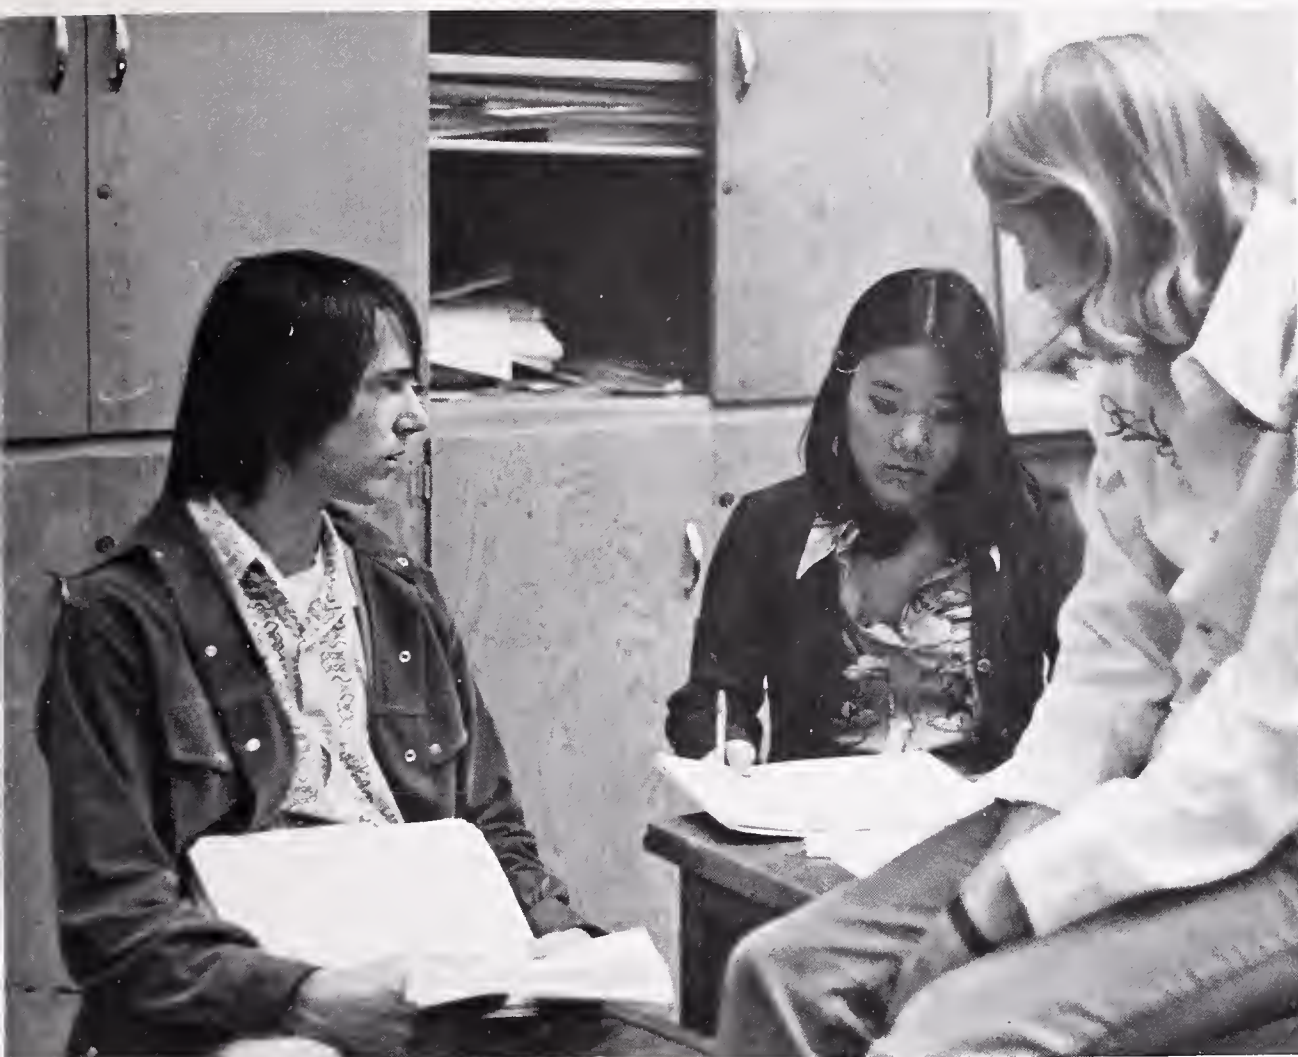

The staff's efforts were more than rewarded at the annual yearbook party knowing that they had produced the largest yearbook with the most color of any BHS book, as well as the most unique book BHS has seen.

Besides playing for half-times, the MARCHING BAND performed in other parades in the Bay Area.

The fact that they were smaller than the previous year's group didn't seem to hinder this year's PEP SQUAD. They were as spirited as ever. By learning the yells they supported the Cheerleaders and encouraged the crowd.

HOMECOMING

For the first time in five years, the sun came out for Homecoming! Activities on the morning of October 11, began with a colorful parade led by the Marching Band. Close behind were the Cheerleaders, Pep Squad and Jacket Girls. The varsity team trailed on a fire truck.

During lunch periods, organizations set up concession booths. The Rally Committee auctioned off football players and administrators.

At halftime, Peaches Brown was crowned Homecoming Queen with Trudell Brown and April Tillis as first and second runner-ups.

Karen Beachman, Danice Brown, and Yvette Caldwell were the Senior, Junior, and Sophomore princesses.

The only thing dampening the day was the Richmond Oilers 12-7 defeat over the Yellow Jackets.

losing a 20-0 decision on a muddy BHS field.
The Jackets closed the regular season with the Division-deciding game against Encinal. Berkeley fell behind 6-0, then unleashed a powerful attack.

Buffington threw TD passes to Donnie Miller, Donald White and Ransom, and the ball-hawking defense halted a number of Encinal drives on turn-overs to keep the Jets at a distance and preserve the 29-12 win. It was the climactic win of the season clinching a third consecutive Southern Division crown and setting up a Turkey Bowl showdown with Ells.

But a victory was not in the Jacket's destiny. The Falcons brought Berkeley's offense to a standstill while their own offense unleashed a one man ground assault. Eddie Miller carried the ball 37 times, gaining 199 yards. The Jackets kept the score close through three quarters, although Ells threatened to make it a runaway.

A touchdown late in the first half made the score 12-0 in Ell's favor, but on the ensuing kickoff Don Miller and Steve Anderson teamed up for an electrifying touchdown. After a scoreless third quarter, which saw BHS revert to dipsey-doodle football, such as a pass and two laterals on the same play, the Falcons wrapped it up with two touchdowns.

The Jackets placed three men on the All-ACAL team: Center Eric Parker, Defensive lineman Eugene Fortune, and defensive back Frank Rogers received league honors. Rogers and Fortune were also named to the All-East Bay Team. Lavell Spence and Don Miller made second team All-ACAL and five players were named honorable mention: Victor Patterson, Larry McGrew, Rick Nichelman, Steve Anderson, and Donald Britton.

The JV's had one of its best seasons since football began at this school. Under the coaching of Paul Cotton and Richard Podewell, the squad finished with a 5 win and 4 loss record. The Jackets were led by an explosive backfield which was headed by running backs Isaac Papillion and Ronnie Powell.

Sophomore gridgers went through another fine year by winning the ACAL championship with a 7-0-1 League record. Their only defeat was to Washington of Fremont's Junior Varsity. Coach Cal Anderson cited spirit, desire, and willingness to work together for the team's success.

For the first time in its history the team was knocked from first place to second place in the ACAL. It lost to its toughest competitor - Alameda High School which has steadily gained strength in recent years.

Coach Bill Wilson considered this season to be a building one since there were few returning seniors and feels that next year's team will spring back to its usual berth as ACAL champs.

The Most Valuable Player was team captain Fred Yukic. Goalie Jim Hanson was named most improved player.

For the second time in three years the Soccer team claimed the ACAL title. With early season setbacks and little varsity playing experience, the Jackets weren't the team they were capable of becoming. As the season progressed, so did the team. The results were an unexpected championship.

With their problems resolved, Ronnie Walker and teammates swept past the rest of the ACAL, climaxed by wins over the perennial champs - Harry Ells and a tough Kennedy squad. With only pre-season losses tarnishing their record, captain Joe Elson led the novice group, sprinkled with a few vets - Virat Bunthuwong, Pon Srisuwanyothin, and Jose Cano - to the championship.

With only four returning seniors this year, the WRESTLING team finished seventh out of 11 team in the ACAL.

At the ACAL Championship matches held in San Leandro at Pacific High School, Most Valuable Player, Curtis Harrison, took a third place in the varsity 168 pound weight. After dropping a tough overtime match to DeAnza, Harrison bounced back to beat Pat Redeker of Pinole. The only other team member to place was sophomore Greg Thomas.

Dean Breckinridge, Gerald Scott, and Steve Anderson lost their consolation matches, placing fourth. The qualifying grapplers traveled to Sacramento for the North Coast State Championship matches without Gerald Scott who sustained and ankle injury during the ACAL matches.

Coach Dick Podewell hopes that with this year's experience, the underclass wrestlers will excel next year.

This year's JV BASKETBALL team turned in the best record for the League, 9-1, and the best for the season, 20-3.

The team was lead by junior Michael Alston who averaged 9.2 points a game, high for the team. He also led the team with assists with 51. Junior Larry Guess added extra spark with 38 steals, the team high.

Coach Doug Kagawa felt that all 17 players on the team were outstanding. He tried to play everyone in every game to give them as much experience as possible and to prepare them for the Varsity club.

Because of his efforts this season, Michael Alston was able to move from the JV's to the Varsity Squad seeing action in both the playoffs and the TOC.

Coach Kagawa was very happy with his first season's record. He especially enjoyed coaching this year because the team was together, without dissention and conflict, and had a lot of team spirit.

Their best game was against Harry Ells whom they beat 80-64.

Hampered by problems of an inexperienced team, the Jackets struggled through a tough practice season and came out with an admirable 12-5 record. After escaping from Kennedy High with a tough league-opening win, Berkeley shifted into high gear and won the next seven games by an average of 21 points. The last of the seven clinched the ACAL championship and a trip to the Tournament of Champions.

The Jackets didn't have time to savor the victory, for the ACAL playoffs and a possible North Coast Section were still in the future. BHS fought off Pinole and Pacific in the first two rounds of the ACAL journey, then lost a classic duel to El Cerrito, 88-86.

The 29th TOURNAMENT of CHAMPIONS brought 35,000 fans to the spacious and smoke-filled Oakland Arena. BHS overcame an eight point deficit to beat Lincoln in the first round and then exploded in the fourth quarter to stop Redwood in the semi-finals. The championship game pitted Berkeley against Sacramento's Elk Grove with seven-foot Bill Cartwright and a pair of six-foot, six inch forwards. The Jackets fought valiantly to overcome a 17-4 deficit, cutting the lead to five in the second quarter. They were unable to stop the massive front line and lost 67-55.

This year's GYMNASTICS team suffered badly in the Northern Conference. Coach Don Allin had to shape the team from a small number of returning athletes and the novice members.

Malcolm Chun was Berkeley's top ranked gymnast with Steve Logan, Phillip Johnson and Andre Dixon placing second, third and fourth.

Even though the team worked out at least two hours or more every day, they were not able to compensate for the lack of experience and placed in the bottom 10 in the North Coast Conference.

Coach Allin had hopes that this year's underclass gymnasts would be prepared for next year. The team was managed by Ellen Monheimer.

This year's GOLF team was inexperienced, but promising with only three returning lettermen. To prepare for matches, the team practiced at Tilden Golf Course.

While all the members were capable of par golf, their lack of experience was expected to take its toll during the ACAL Tournament where Alameda High, North Coast Section champions, were defending their title.

With the young and hard working team, Coach Hensley stated, "We should surprise a lot of people."

The three returning varsity lettermen were Nate Jessup, David Tetlow, and Perry Sato. The rest of the Jacket shot makers are Matt Watson, Billy Kagawa, Bill Schneider, John Larmour, Bill Houghton, David Hirvo, Matt Braley, and Scott Hansen.

After winning their first two meets, the SWIM team hoped to continue their winning streak. While the team lost almost all their varsity players, Jim Sours and Mike Sprague were expected to maintain their outstanding performances.

Mike placed second in the ACAL last year in the fly while Jim holds the best record at BHS for the butterfly with a 55.1 breaking the old swim team record of 56.4 held by Mike Sprague and Max Stinchcombe.

Dan Harvey is one of the fastest breaststrokers that BHS has had with a time of 1.06.0. He, along with backstrokers Garreck Jauregui and Jim McKenney, were expected to do well in competition.

Rebounding from a mediocre season last year where the TRACK team lost their first ACAL Championship in five years, this year's team had a winning combination with two of the top relay teams in the East Bay.

The 440 and Mile relay teams displayed strength and versatility with a make-up of long jumpers and quarter-milers forming the team - Marshall Hammonds, James McCoy, Donald Miller, and anchor man and captain, A.C. Stephens.

Individually, Willie White ranked among the top sprinters, establishing himself in the 100 and 220. Anthony Stephens performed exceptionally well in the 330 Low Hurdles and the 220 dash. Field events were also stronger this year

Talented jumpers included Gary Lewis, Michael Green, Donald Miller and Carl Joiner. Marshall Hammonds headed the field with experience and timing.

The cross-country team contributed to the team's success by giving the services of returning lettermen Jeff Zimmerman and Jim Carson.

The Girls Track team was a powerful and talented one with returning state champions Marie Nickson, Annette Robinson, and Terri Knight who set a national record in the 440 last year. Vanessa Brooks starred as a shot putter and Jeri Manning excelled in the distance races.

With only two returning players, the BADMINTON team started its season with a squad of eighteen players. Gwen Grant, Gabrielle Jones, and Carolyn Stickney lead the singles and doubles. They finished their first match with a 12-12 tie.

During the season, the team played San Leandro, Oakland Tech, and Pinole.

One of BHS's best kept secrets is the VOLLEYBALL team. The team has been in existence for three years and all members - except John Feller — are graduating seniors. Coached by Dan Gellermann, the team improved greatly and planned to compete in the National High School Championship in Los Angeles late in the year.

While volleyball has been a club sport for the last three years receiving little support from the school, next year it will be a varsity sport.

With its 26 members, the CREW team continued to dominate in the Bay Area Rowing Association.

Every weekday from 7 to 9:35, the team practiced on their rowing techniques and conditioning. Rowing against Cal, Stanford, Santa Barbara and other college teams, the oarsmen have gained experience and attention.

As Mr. Traum expressed, "There is no other sport where teamwork is so important." He has been coaching the team for seven years and spent Easter vacations practicing with college teams.

With outstanding members as seniors George Gaebler, Mark Mealy and Kirk Goddard, the crew team was very optimistic about having outstanding results as they have always had.

This years BASEBALL team will try to rebound from last year's disappointing loss during the first game of the ACAL playoffs to Pinole.

The team got off to a strong early season by winning their first two games with the hitting of James Wafer, Shooty Babitt, and Anthony Survine, along with the pitching of Steve Ward and Richard Couch. The Jackets dropped their third game to St. Marys by one.

The team had the services of last year's all-ACAL shortstop, Gene Ransom, infielders Monte Gordon, Jesse Love, and Mike Foster, and outfielders from this year's squad - Jerry Green, Mike Weaver, Ron Pelley, Steve Crowder, Joe Crawford and Anthony Survine. The Jacket's catcher was Eric Parker with Dave Ward backing him up.

Learning from their mistakes early in the season, the Jackets hoped to head for the ACAL play offs with better luck than last year.

With the expansion into a new league and with an additional adversary, Liberty High, the Tennis Team set out to improve last year's League standing which was third place.

While the team consisted mostly of seniors, there were two notable exceptions - sophomore Stephanie DuPeron and freshman Ann Pope - who gave the team added strength.

With losses to Acalanes, Piedmont, and Miramonte, the team again ranked third.

With a tiger-like roar, Amy Kimble as Sally Bowles, sang in the musical CABARET which was so successfully performed during the summer, it was held over in the fall playing two weekends in September.

Amy, a sophomore, portrayed the love-life and disillusion of an American girl working at the Kit Kat, a nightclub in Berlin. Amy's striking and versatile voice gave a special vitality to the play.

The lighting and scenery were dreamy, portraying a world where people aren't living with reality. Overflowing from the nightclub stage was the dazzling carefree world of the wealthy, and the harsh cruelty of the outside world was only hinted at first as Herr Schulz (Alan Schwartz) was suddenly greeted by a wall of uncertainty and coldness upon the discovery of his Jewish origin, and then when a man was brutally beaten up outside the nightclub doors. Inside all was carefree, war and safe.

The play opens with the song "Willkommen" (top right) sung by the Kit Kat Girls. As Amy first strode onto the stage, she belted out the opening number, "Don't Tell Mama" (bottom right). Her lover, Clifford Bradshaw (Ted Hamel) blows up at his English student, Ernst Ludwig (Michael Oliver), when he suggests undercover work involved with the Nazi party (bottom center).

Returning to the nightclub, the master of ceremonies (Steve Wallace) leads a song. Steve sings "Two Ladies" with Inge (Lisa Schilling) and Tessie (Tessa Rouverol), a song that keeps the audience in fits (top left).

Much of the success of Berkeley High plays can be attributed to the Production Crews which are a part of the School of the Arts and the Performing Arts Department under the direction of Diane MacDonald.

The students create the sets, costumes and learn make-up getting the same training as professionals. It is not unusual for students from the crews to be hired by professionals.

The students on these pages are preparing for the fall play, "Lower Depths."

5. The uncle of Vassallisa (Stuart Holloway) denies having helped Vassily and the other thieves.

Alan Schwartz plays the part of a wise and philosophical old wanderer, new to the rooming house where the rest of the cast lives.

With the good advice of the old beggar, the shrewish temper of Vassilisa, the landlord's wife; the sickly helplessness of Anna, the locksmith's wife; and the selfishness and hero stereotype of Vassily Pepel, the dashing and well-off thief and lover, there is never a dull moment.

"The House of Bernada Alba" was the Performing Arts Advanced Theater Project for the fall semester. Judy Maynard, an honors student in drama, directed the all-female cast in the powerful drama which explored the humor and emotional impact the relationships among a Spanish family had. Bernada Alba had declared that her daughters would be shut up in mourning for eight years after the death of the father.

The production played February 7 and 8 to large and appreciative audiences in the Florence Schwimley

After listening to the JAZZ BAND Herb Wong, manager for KJAZ, stated, "This year's group is the best to come out of Berkeley High in years."

The Band which played with Castlemont High at the Berkeley Community Theatre, February 18, featured, "You Are The Sunshine Of My Life, Double Exposure," and Thad Jones "Back Bone." Each song put the audience in a rock, funk, blues, modern jazz, or Count Basie mood.

Larry Hamilton soloed on tenor and soprano saxophone; Jim Fenske on trombone; Gerald Goudeau on trumpet; Carl Jones on baritone sax; Vincent Spaulding on blues guitar; Jim Davidson on piano; Ian Wright on drums; and Brad Hect on lead tenor.

The versatility and group talent will make them stiff competition at the Jazz Band finals in Reno.

The Production /Acting and the Production/Stagecraft classes, along with the Costume Production class, were responsible for producing a season which included no less than five shows during the Spring semester.

The classes produced "As You Like It" early in May, followed by a program consisting of Ghelderode's "Women At The Tomb," and Master's "Spoon River Anthology." The season concluded with the two one-act plays, "The Feast" by Daniel Wright and "Friends" by Kobo Abe.

While the Concert Chorale tour was not as exciting as it has been in the last two years, the group had a good time singing for other choirs in Livermore, Bakersfield and Long Beach during their annual trip.

During the tour, the group performed Knutnysted's "Praise to God," Norman Lubof's "All My Trials," Thomas de Luis Vittoria's "Laudasion," and Sir Thomas Meecham's "Sheperd and His Love."

delighted full houses for three nights with a well-balanced program of jazz, classical, humorous, and interpretative dances.

Concert Chorale supported the featured work, "Medusa the Ship," by providing a chilling, deathly background for the dancers who played the drowning passengers.

Tim Paffenbarger delighted the audience with his interpretation of "Mysterious Traveler." The dance was highlighted by three masks to create an eerie mood. The masks were created by Michael Grossman.

SENIORS

The SENIORS got off to a good start this fall. Besides sponsoring a successful car wash and a dance in the Round Room, they held the first All East-Bay Homecoming Pageant inviting seven East-Bay schools to compete for the title. The judges chose Berkeley's homecoming queen for the title.

The successful start in the fall was somewhat marred by a lack of publicity for a dance at Merritt which drew so few people the class lost money.

Undaunted, the Seniors raised enough money to have the Senior Ball held at the Hyatt Regency in San Francisco.

As usual, the annual graduation night and picnic ended the year.

FACULTY

& UNDERCLASSMEN

Underclass and faculty were back in the picture. More Sophomores and Juniors turned out to have their pictures taken this year than in the last few years combined. Instead of waiting until they were Seniors to join most activities or varsity teams, more underclass were participating. Four out of six linemen on the football team were Juniors; the majority of the Rally Committee were Juniors; and both Sophomores and Juniors were on the Jacket Staff.

Faculty administrators and classified personnel munched, gobbled, chomped, and greased at the first conference day dinner ever held. Sponsored by Tom Parker, principal, and Bill Thomas, director of business service, the dinner was held November 6.

Chef Bill McCray (known as "Papa Son") prepared the buffet style dinner which included four large turkeys, an 80 pound beef roast, barbecue ribs, 13 different salads, green beans with potatoes, chicken flavored rice, brussel sprouts, corn bread dressing, giblet gravy, homemade cranberry sauce, candied yams, french bread and homemade applecobbler.

The rally committee acted as host and hostesses by setting tables, serving coffee, assisting in making the salads, checking tables and cleaning up.

It was evident that the dinner was a success by the empty plates that were left.

Under the leadership of Tom Parker, the new principal, Berkeley High began to appear cleaner and doors were put on the mens' bathrooms. Mr. Parker was seen frequently walking around campus and in the park to see that students were attending classes.

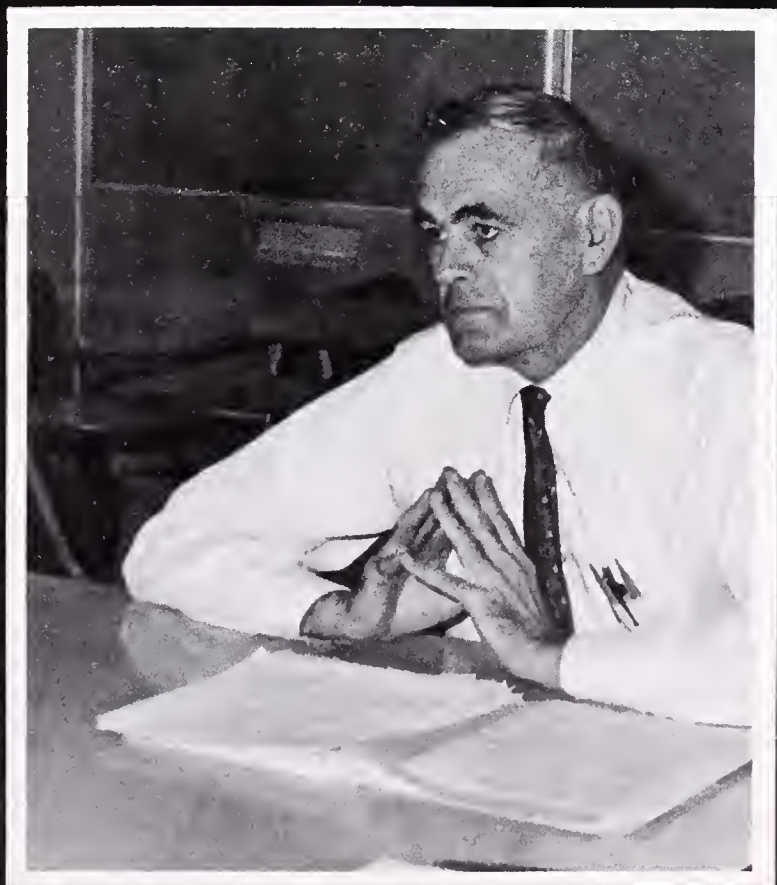

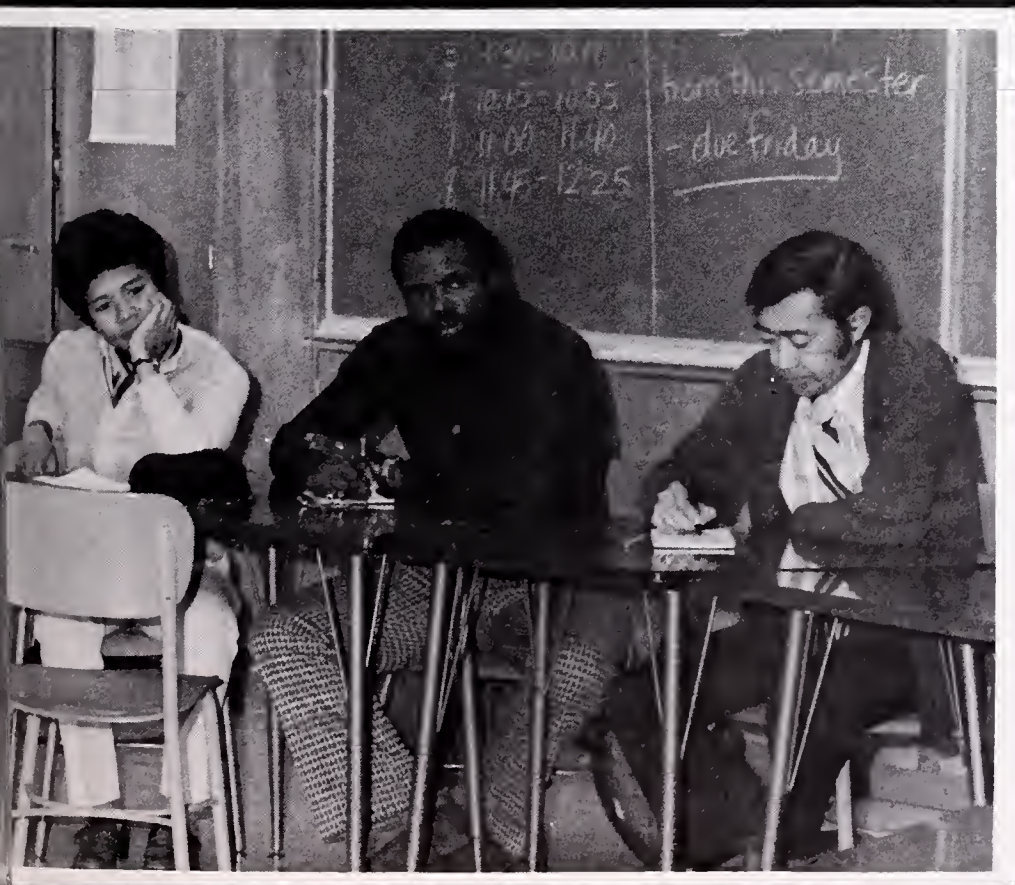

Former Student Activities Coordinator, Jim Catlett, became vice-principal in charge of the buildings, while Thelette Bennett was promoted to direct student activities.

Under the new administration morale was high. The walls stayed clean, the cafeteria provided an eatable hamburger and garbage cans were institutionalized. In fact, Parker's Administration has been jokingly called "the garbage can administration" because of the frequent and intense campaign against litter and non-use of garbage cans.

Losing one counselor this year meant that 12 Counselors had to work with from 180 to 300 students each. Vern Wenrich, head counselor, felt that there were no real changes in the program this year. While more students were attending classes, attendance was still a problem. Counselors continued to advise students about college scholarships, military service and personal problems, while Project Dig It, a federally funded program, searched for talented ethnic students to advise.

Six Student Supervisors, Pumpsy Green, Revert Thornton, Ted Nelson, Bob Johnson, Emily Reed, and John Brown worked with counselors and administrators to help see that students were in classes.

They not only supervised the campus area, but Provo Park to keep students from gambling, smoking, and mixing with non-students. They worked closely with many students who might not get the encouragement they needed to stay in school.

Enrollment in the Industrial Arts

Department was on the upswing. A predominantly male department faced its largest number of female enrollees, especially in Woodworking and Mechanical Drawing.

While the Department used to be a dumping ground for non-academic students, it is now a place where many students want to develop skills to prepare them for jobs after graduation.

While enrollment in Art classes declined steadily as the department lost a jewelry and a print-making teacher, the photography classes continued to gain in popularity. An Intermediate class was added to the beginning and Advanced classes in order to give students more background in techniques and more experience in taking photos.

To encourage more students to take art classes, the teachers began making plans to have separate rooms for painting, pottery, and sculpture to create a better atmosphere in the classrooms.

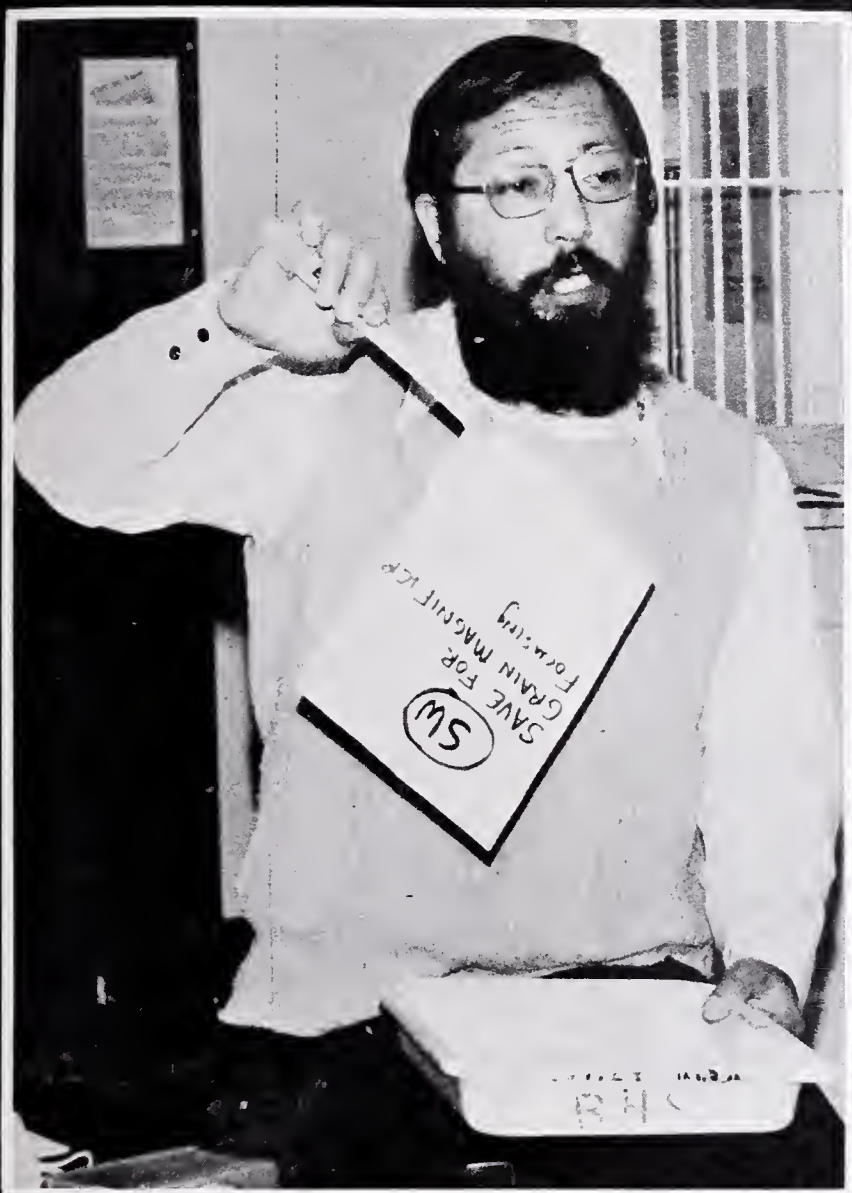

Fred Bullock, John Costarella, and Jose Romero, under the department chairman Phil St. Martin, made plans for a permanent art gallery which they hoped to begin in the spring or by fall.

Barbara Scales and Jose Romero began a mural painting class to repaint the side of the Community Theater with scenes from plays performed in the Little Theater.

Mr. Bullock displayed the drawings and paintings of his students throughout the year in the display case in the C Building. Students whose works were displayed were Joyce Teraura, Ian Blackwood, and Josue Zazueta among others.

In its continuing effort to meet the needs of all students, the Math Department opened a High Intensity Learning Center to math skills. The Center, funded by MSA, focused on developing skills at each person's level.

Math students continued to do exceptionally well on tests. David Shirley, an eleventh grader, placed first in the Junior Division at the 17th Annual University of Santa Clara High School Mathematics Contest, out of 700 competing students. Eliza Sachs, Norman Birge, and Gregory White received Honorable Mentions.

The word within the History Department is "variety."

The History Department once again introduced a variety of new courses to meet the student body's changing wants and needs.

New emphasis was placed on law courses with the introduction of Criminal Law and Juvenile Law. Asian studies was also a part of the program.

According to Sara Harrington, chairman, many students have a new awareness and desire to learn about themselves and their rights.

In addition, the Department once again played host to guest speakers featuring lawyers, law students and Istaropena Goikoetxea, a woman involved in the Basque revolution.

1. Keith Conning, alias Abe Lincoln, visited a writing class to read the Gettysburg address and attempt to tell jokes from an Abe Lincoln joke book.
2. Brian Endo takes notes during David Eichorn's Juvenile Law class.
3. Ms. Istaropena Goikoetxea and her interpreter spoke to history classes about the Basque revolution for which she had been jailed as an activist.

Berkeley High is one of the few schools in the nation to offer eight foreign languages - French, Spanish, German, Japanese, Mandarin Chinese, Hebrew, Russian, and Latin.

The teachers in the Foreign Language Department have studied and traveled extensively in the countries of the languages they teach. Several are natives of their countries.

Each year students in the Department place high on the National Language exams, Cal entrance exams, and in Foreign Language Field Day competitions. Last year the Department started a drama festival which it hoped to turn into a yearly tradition.

For the last three years the Spanish class has put out an edition of the Jacket in Spanish to recognize Cinco de Mayo holiday in May.

Students are able to strengthen their language speaking and listening skills in a modern lab which handles from 50 to 100 students a day. Native speakers from other countries visit and lecture classes to share cultural and linguistics experiences.

1. Senor Ibarra explains Spanish pronouns to his class.
2. Enjoying their meal at the Cathey Restaurant are Mary Fung and Alice Lam. Behind them are Andrew Contopoulos and Anthony Ricketts.

According to Greba Jackson, department chairman, Home Economics does not just include cooking and sewing.

Courses in the department included Social Living, Critical Social Issues, Exploring Health Fields, Clothing, and Cooking World-Wide Foods.

In Social Living, speakers talked about the rape centers, prisoner's union, sexuality, family planning, adoption and suicide prevention.

Critical Social Issue's students counseled sixth grade students with problems they were having. Sixty students this year went to Alta Bates, Herrick, and Albany Hospitals to explore medicine, nursing and other health careers.

Students in Crafts learned how to quilt, macrame, embroider and needlepoint, while students in Cooking learned to cook gourmet and ethnic foods. Students taking clothing classes worked at individual projects often sewing so well, they did work for other students and teachers.

1. Terry Doran, Social Living teacher, could hardly wait to get his plate at the faculty dinner during parent conference day.
2. Wannetta Charles lays out her material in Clothing class.

Robert Hanson, the new Driver's Education Department chairman, was busy making a few changes in his Department. While not all the equipment came this year, he ordered new, more efficient, and more computerized simulators. The current ones were being leased.

Local merchants continued to help out the program by providing drivers training cars for a total of nine cars - two Oldsmobiles Cutlass Supreme Sedans, three Oldsmobile station wagons, two Ford Torinos, one Toyota Corona, and one Volkswagon bug. Next year a Chevy Vega will be added. Since all these cars are sold at the end of the year, that means there will be new ones available for next year.

Model Offices continued to be a popular class in the Business Education Department. In the simulated office students acted as supervisors and office managers to learn how to work with their peers.

Jane Thompson, chairman, feels that more students are expressing an interest in business classes because they realize there are good jobs available for people with skills. College-bound students are also realizing the need to have skills to get jobs while they are attending school.

The department added a computer oriented program to the Bookkeeping and Record Keeping classes, while dictation was added to the Typing 4 class. Typing 4 students also learned the touch system on a 10 key adding machine.

To help students get jobs after they have taken courses, a certificate program was started this year. Student skills, attendance, and tardiness are recorded on the certificate which is awarded at the end of the year. They can show prospective employers these certificates to help them get jobs.

Casting off the image of drill sergeants the BOY'S P.E. Department tried to individualize teaching to the students' needs. "We don't want the students to be just a number," stated one P.E. teacher who added, "We try to individualize our teaching spiritually, mentally and physically."

New concepts in teaching P.E. weren't the only thing added to the Department. A new leisure sports class was added including table tennis, pool, volleyball and tennis.

The football bleachers were remodeled, the track was resurfaced and a new Universal gym was added to the delight of the students.

The Learning Assistance program offered a highly individualized program designed to meet the social and academic needs of each student.

Vocational training was emphasized for those students who wanted it, while assistance was given in academic skills to help students who wished to succeed in the regular school program.

Carl Perkins and Miriam Pollock's classes also offered photography, and students took trips to Yosemite - because learning can be fun too!

Now in its fifth year the Black Studies

Department, directed by Richard Navies, held meetings twice a month during second and fifth periods.

The Department provided speakers, performers, and movies to enrich the experience of Black students. Programs included the Soul Steppers and the movie, "The Autobiography of Miss Jane Pittman."

In addition to the regular Black History and English classes, the Department offered courses in performing arts, business education, dance and music. Swahili, taught by Matt Kaaya, continued to be a popular class.

During the summer, the Department sponsored a summer school. Students attended a poetry workshop, wrote poetry, and completed a book of their works titled, "Wupingo Walanasa," (Ebony Poets).

The Girl's P.E. Department continued its active program by adding a new tennis class and by inviting Ms. Blumberg to give a series of Master Folk-dance lessons.

The new Tennis class began at 7:25 a.m. because so many students requested the class that a new section was added.

For girls who were interested in improving their figures, the Department got a new Universal Gym. The highlight of the year was the inter-class tournament between Tom Pearse's tennis class and Lou Anderson's. Unfortunately, the women were defeated.

Allan Goldstein, head of the Media Center explained, "The main purpose is to help the students and educate them."

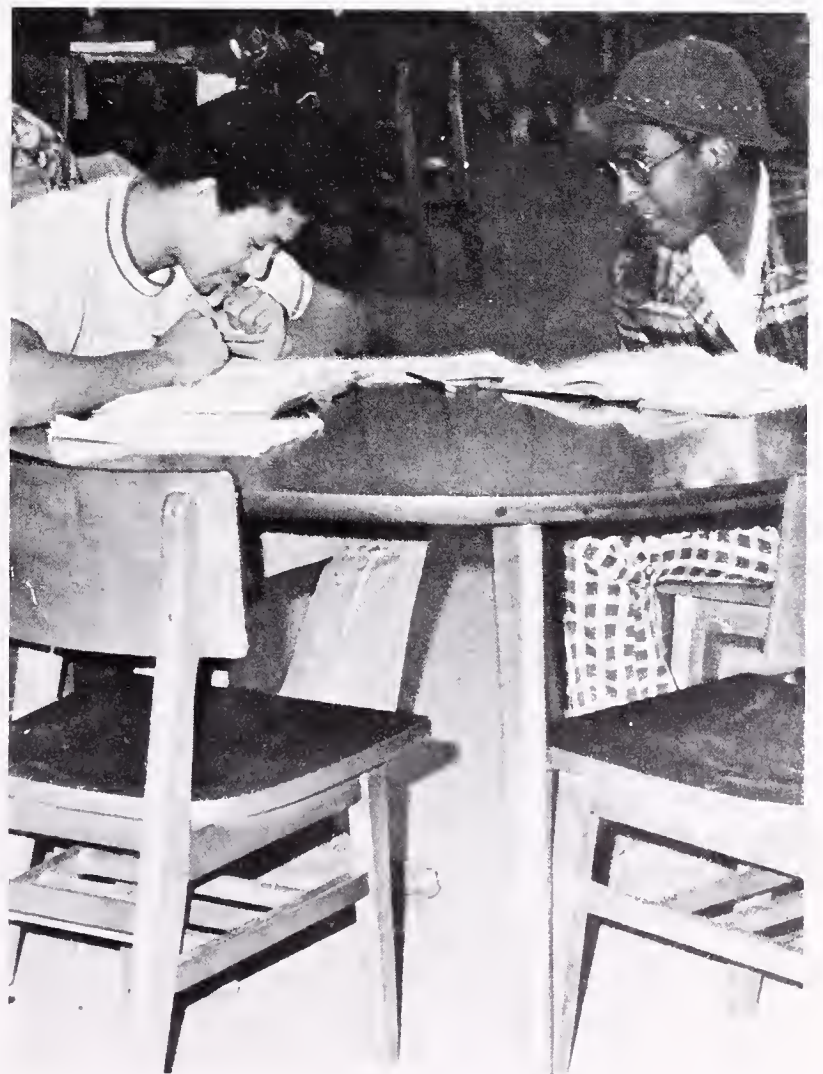

The staff this year tried very hard to get students turned on to reading. The students are asking for more materials each year, but the main problem is the students who misuse materials.

Since funds are a major concern, the library emphasizes that students should be very careful when handling the materials. Out of the six working tape decks this year, two are now working.

In deciding what books to order, the librarians acquaint themselves with the courses offered, use professional journals, confer with teachers, and try to fulfill student requests.

The Health Center, headed by Vera Labat gave students a place to go for first aid and a bed to lie on when they were sick.

If a student was depressed or needed someone to talk to they could go to the Health Center for assistance. The Center also offered referral services for additional help such as Mrs. Emma Ford who helped students with problems relating to home, pregnancy, or abortions.

Ms. Labat conducted health sessions with P.E. teachers and Student Supervisors to teach them such things as what to do with a student who goes into an epileptic fit or is bleeding heavily.

Ms. Labat also submitted health information to the Jacket and held an open house in February.

BHS is the only school in California with its own Parent-Child Development Center. Not only can mothers bring their children to the Center while they go to school, but both parents and other students can take a Lab and Theory Class on infant growth and development.

The Center which is spotless and bright, cares for 22 charming babies ranging from three weeks to two and one half years old. Food and Pampers are provided for the babies so that the mother only has to bring a change of clothes. A doctor and nurse are on call at all times and there is a special room for sick infants. The doctor visits the Center once a week to check on the general health of the babies.

The Center was started four years ago by Mrs. Vera Casey, a former teacher at McKinley, the old continuation school. She was concerned that students with children would not get a chance to finish school. She was responsible for getting a bill through the State Legislature this year to provide money for schools to create parent-child centers. She had been working on the bill for three years.

The Career Center expanded this year. An additional room was used for testing and hearing such distinguished guests as Acupuncturist, Dr. Ellis. Headed by Robert Rice along with Robert Tryon, Katie Bovie and Karen Enge, the center serviced 5,000 students from Berkeley's secondary schools by finding employment and by counseling them in job opportunities.

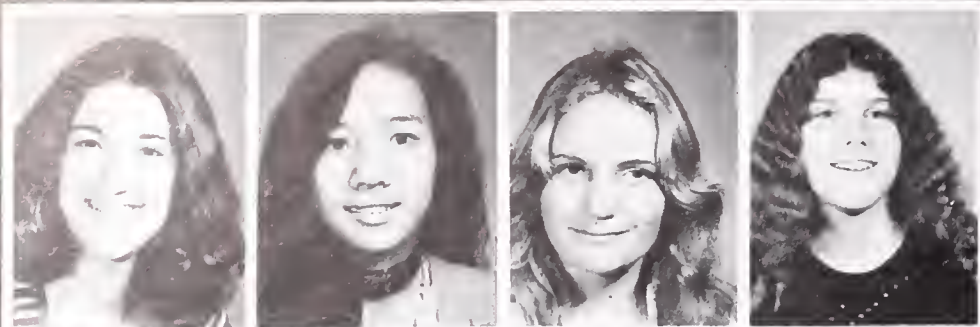

The California State Board employed 27 students through the center this year.

With the help of a computer, students can now find what careers best suit them, what college scholarships are available, and amuse themselves at the same time.

Everything is blooming at Project Real a vocational education center which stands for Research, Experience, Awareness, and Learning.

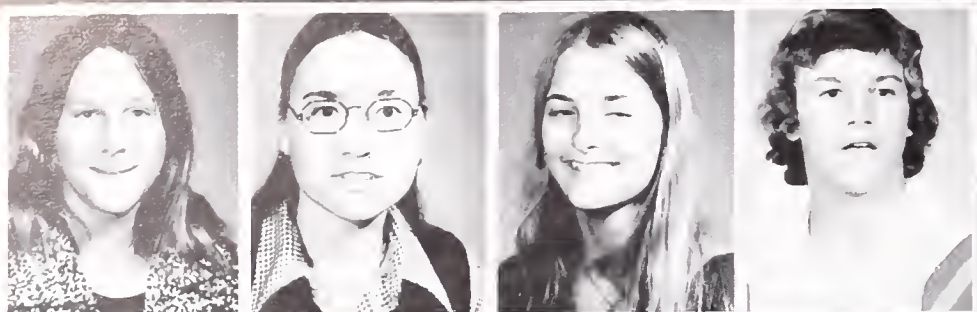

More students have discovered that it's smart to learn a marketable skill and explore careers. Investment Careers, a new course, was added in the fall. Other courses included Graphic Communications, Health Occupations, Hotel-Restaurant, Merchandising and Display and Office Experience.

All these courses prepare students for the real world of work. The staff at Project Real believe that the community is the best classroom and that students need a real situation to work in to choose more wisely what they want for a career.

Students and faculty often forget that the school cannot run without the support of the Classified staff who do the paper work, prepare food, and keep the school plant operating. Often working behind the scenes, the classified staff perform valuable services.

Because of budget cutbacks in the last few years, BHS's cafeteria serves lunches for eight other schools besides the high school. The snack bar services 2000 students each day while the cafeteria served 350 plate lunches - 100 more than last year. More money was available this year for food which helped improve the quality including an all-meat hamburger that Tom Parker, principal, promised.

The biggest problem for the custodians this year was the garbage students left around although they admitted keeping the campus was easier because of Mr. Parker's clean-up campaign. They also had to clean the graffiti off the school walls. Two students from the Career Center worked with the custodians. To keep from polluting the air the school began using natural gas rather than heating it from burning taash.

Almost every student at one time or another has had to go to the Accountant's Office which Audrey Pitts keeps running smoothly with a smile and a firm hand. The main office was running more efficiently with the information booth managed by Mary Walters, while Dorothy Wong, Mr. Parker's new secretary, and Gloria Dana greeted students, teacher, parents, and visitors with a pleasant hello, May I help you?

School of the Arts

builds its classes around the arts, music, drama, writing, and media. It seeks to create a community of students, staff, and parents bound by a mutual interest in the arts centered curriculum.

Students in Super Graphics, soon to change to Berkeley Fine Arts Squad, painted the halls of the music building by designing murals with graphic arts. Each design gave an idea what was going on in the class. Unfortunately, the class was only offered one semester because of lack of funding. Fencing, the only P.E. class offered was taught by Advanced Fencing students who concentrated on theatrical fencing and modern foil.

The students in Costume Design and Stage Craft were responsible for designing clothes and making props for the plays.

Alternative Schools - 268

Merging this fall because of cutbacks in the Experimental Schools Program, Agora-Genesis continued their emphasis on student involvement and multi-ethnic classes.

Students found that merging the two schools created both advantages and disadvantages. There was a wider variety of classes within one alternative school, producing a closer relationship between students of different ethnic backgrounds. Other students felt that the schools lost their unique identity as a result of the merging.

However, the staff still encouraged close student relationships and involvement in subjects the students felt were important. Courses which remained popular were: Black Experience, Chicano Workshop, What is White, and a Multi-Cultural Women's Studies class.

Now in its fourth year, College Prep saw its first graduating class last year. Ninety-four percent of its graduating seniors went onto college and Ron Fortune, director, hopes to keep the percentage at least that high this year.

College Prep, an alternative school, is designed to prepare students who have the ability to go to college, but who need to improve their skills in order to succeed. While math and English skills are emphasized, each student must take a course titled College Survival Skills. Students work with verbal analogies, learn to take tests, visit colleges, prepare college resumes, and attend classes at Cal to see what going to college will be like. This class helped the seniors taking the SAT's to score in the top 10 per cent nationally

To help students get to know each other, a luncheon was held at the Rainbow sign during the fall semester. Debra Smith danced to "Killer Joe" and the Natural Uniques sang during the entertainment. Students also took a field trip to see Harlem Heyday, a program on the history of Black music.

Model School A, the largest of the alternative schools at BHS, came out with a new math program this year. Instead of working from a heavy, bulky book, MSA students used worksheets, calculators, and overhead projectors.

The High Intensity Learning Center added a new dimension to the school's already productive reading skills program. The Math Labs continued to be used by many students to help improve their skills.

HOW TO CATCH THE 5:25 FERRY AT 5:26.

The Fiat 124 is an ideal car if you have a tendency to miss the boat.

It has a high-performance overhead cam engine that lets you take off quickly.

It has 4-wheel disc brakes and radial tires for surer stops on wet surfaces.

And it has front-wheel independent suspension, so it takes bumps well.

Of course, if you're not in a big hurry to catch the 5:25, the Fiat 124 offers a convenient accessory.

An AM-FM radio.

So you can hear how backed up traffic is on the bridge.

TIME FOR RECOGNITION

In a school with the diverse and immense talent that BHS has, only a superlative person could stand out above the rest. Gene Ransom is such a person. His athletic achievements could fill the entire yearbook. Although only 5-9 in height, Gene was a giant whose coordination, flexibility and daring earned him the all-TOC title for the third year in a row - not to mention that he was named Co-Nor-Cal Player of the year with Bill Cartwright in 1974. These honors were added to making all-ACAL three years straight, the Berkeley Gazette's Player of the Year for the last two years and All-American, honorable mention. In fact, he never played in a tournament that he was not on the all-tournament team.

If that was not enough, Gene was all-ACAL in football this year and all-ACAL in baseball last year with a good chance that he will be a repeat this year.

No one who has had the pleasure of seeing Gene's basketball wizardry will forget it. For those of us who did, Gene made our years at Berkeley High something special.
